

Wonga Park

Wonga Park was a mixture of orchards, grazing properties, timbered land and was part of Mooroolbark until the late 1880s. Development of the township and surrounds was relatively slow until the 1980s and 1990s when a number of rural/residential subdivisions were released.

Today Wonga Park is an established small residential township and semi-rural area.

While there is currently only a small area of retail that services residents with day to day needs, the recently approved development on Launderers Avenue will offer future economic growth in the area.

Wonga Park is also home to Kellybrook Winery, a family owned and run winery producing award winning wines and ciders. It makes up part of the Yarra Valley wine region and is considered a valuable tourist attraction to the area. The annual cider festival is a key attraction and part of the community's calendar of events.

The population of Wonga Park is relatively stable but ageing. The major industry of employment is construction (16.7 per cent) and households generally have a high weekly income.

Wonga Park has the highest access to cars of all suburbs in Manningham (96.2 per cent).

Wonga Park Census demographic information has been sourced from the Australian Bureau of Statistics, Census of Population and Housing 2011 and 2016.
